Virginia's Debt. We know very well that the Whig and General MAHONE and all the unadulterated idjusters cisim that Virginia's debt is only what the RIDDLEBERGER bill makes it, and West Virginia's debt is what is assigned to that State by the RIDDLEBERGER bill. But as we addressed our remarks of Friday to northern readers, we beg leave to recall our contemporary's attention to the fact that nobody in the North (nor in the South either, except Readjusters,) will think for a moment of accepting Mr. Massey's, or Mr. TURNER'S, OF Mr. RIDDLEBERGER'S, OF General Manone's mere dictum as to what Virginia's debt is. All men wish to know the debt according to the official statement of it-what its amount is as ascertained by the legislative, the executive, and the judicial departments of the State government. They care no more for individual opinions as to how the debt came to be so much, or by how much it ought to be reduced, than they do for the assertion of the Okolona States that the thirteenth, fourteenth, and fifteenth amendments were the Federal Constitution itself. And, by the way, if individuals can be justified to ripping up a debt settlement made by the State, why cannot they be justified in ripping up a settlement of political questions? What is there in the former ease that renders it praiseworthy, and in the latter that renders it damnable?

We wish the Whig to discuss the real question at issue. When it tells the north. ern people that all the debt of Virginia will be paid, and that Virginia owes no more than the nineteen or twenty millions provided for in the RIDDLEBERGER bill, let that journal, if it desires to make known the whole truth, tell its readers that the State government of Virginia, including all three of its departments, has over and over again ascertained her debt to be, not twenty mil. lions of dollars, but over thirty millions of dollars, and that the RIDDLEBERGER bill proposes to repudiate all but nineteen millions and a fraction of the bonds issued under a law of the Legislature of Virginia passed in 1871, approved by the Governor, and pronounced constitutional twelve millions of that debt. Now let the readers that the twelve or more millions of dollars of the State debt which it would repudiate consist of bonds issued since the war by the tawful authorities of the Commonwealth, and now in the hands of innocent purchasers who bought them because the faith of the State was pledged by her Governor, her Legislature, and her judiciary, to their payment. In a word, the RIDDLEBERGER bill undertook in 1880 to repeal an irrepealable contract, and was vetoed by Governor Holli-DAY. The RIDDLEBERGER bill now proposes to get the voters to repudiate at the ballotbox a debt which Governor Holliday would not allow the Legislature of 1880 to repudiate.

Do the northern people call that repudiation or not? We would like to have a definite answer to that interrogatory, and the Whig can aid us in getting one if it and we can, as the lawyers do sometimes, agree upon the facts.

THE SENATE MAY ADJOURN .- It is the general belief that the Senate cannot adjourn for more than three days at a time; but the language of the constitutional provision on the subject does not authorize that belief. The Constitution says:

of Rev. J. S. Hardaway as pastor of the Baptist chapel, on Washington street, and of Rev. Alfred Jones as pastor of the Old-Street Presbyterian church, have not yet been filled. Steps will be taken, however, to supply both pulpits very soon.

There have been some twelve or filteen conversions and as many penitents at the Blandford Methodist Episcopal church this week, and the revival meetings there will be kept up for some time longer. The meetings at the First Baptist church have also resulted in a number of professions of never ratified in the manner prescribed by faith, and they will be continued all next It is stated that Mr. A. M. Orgain, who has for some years held the position of clerk of the courts in Dinwiddle county, will be opposed this year by Mr. Bracy Ragsdale, Republican, who will doubtless make a strong run if he gets the nomination of his party. There is also said to be quite a lively contest in Sussex county for some of the offices to be filled next May. The sale of the Petersburg railroad, which is to take place next week, is exciting a purchase by one of our well known and energetic citizens, who now owns a majority of the stock. The day of the sale only, however, will develop the fate of the road and into whose interests it will fall. ROBIN ADAIR.

NIGHT SESSION-SERMONS-ORDINATION.

The Presbytery was called to order by the Moderator at 8 P. M. The objects of this session were to hear the trial-sermons of Messrs. Robert R. Howison and Walter H. Robertson, and to administer the right of ordination. The church was well filled, a large congregation having assembled to witness the impressive services, which were opened by an invocatory prayer by Mr. Howison.

This was followed by the singing of the 15TH OF SEPTEMPLER, 1881.

"I heard the voice of Jesus say, Come unto me and rest." Mr. Howison read a part of the 16th chapter of Acts, and the Moderator led the Pres-bylery and the congregation in Prayer.

The two gentlemen left Fredericksburg about 4 o'clock in the afternoon and reached Port Royal about 8 o'clock that evening. It was very dark when they reached the latter place, and in making a turn near the corner of Dr. Graa turn near the corner of Dr. Gra-vatt's lot the pole of the wagon struck a small tree, and about three feet of it was broken off. The horses continued to turn, and the wagon was overturned. The team made no effort to run; on the contrary, they behaved web. Mr. Matthews was caught under the wagon, and with difficulty extri-cated himself. He took the horses by the bridle and called for help. After some time the wagon was raised, and Major Smith taken out dead.
